

ENOUGH SAID

DON'S BLOG 2017.12.04

As you well know, I have been anti-stocks for a long time due to current historical extreme overvaluations. The greatest in market history. At one point, I mentioned that the “market” should go to the couch for a session with a psychiatrist.

Today I called one of my favorite clients and friend to see about lunch. He said to me: “the Dow is going to 25,000 and you are calling me?” Well, we are going to lunch, but I’m the one who needs to see a psychiatrist. Couch, here I come.
